CABLE AND RADIO APPARATUS MADE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 .- That number of messages may be sent over submarine cables simultaneously through the use of alternating current, and that the trunks of growing trees may be utilized at growing trees may be utilized at times in the place of sending and receiving antenna for radio apparatus, was disclosed by experiments conducted in the research laboratories of the army signal corps during the past year, according to the annual report of Maj.-Gen. George O. Squier, chief signal officer, to Secretary Baker, made public today. Interesting experiments suggested by Gen. Squier's recent discovery that uninsulated conductors might be used under water successfully also that uninsulated conductors might be used under water successfully also were conducted, the report says.

Much of the report was devoted to various phases of radio telegraphy, progress in which "continues to be nothing short of phenomenal," Gen. Squier said. "With suitable apparatus, messages may be transmitted and received practically between any two points on the surface of the globe and the speed of this form of communication operates to place any communication operates to place any two points on the earth's surface in practically instantaneous connec-

Difficulty was experienced during the year in obtaining and keeping men for the signal corps, due to demand for workmen trained along these lines in civilian life, the report said. Despite this, however, it was considerable progress was stated, considerable progress was made along experimental lines, radio operators were trained and sent to the Western aerial forest fire patrol the Western aerial forest fire patrol and the Alaskan military cable service and particularly good success was met in developing the army's carrier pigeon service.

Among the achievements of the corps chronicled in the report were the design and completion of a cavalry radio pack set for field service and the completion of an army oband the completion of an army ob-servation plane radio telegraph and telephone set with a range of 80 to 100 miles telephone and 200 to 250 miles telegraph, in addition to the designing of a large number of minor parts calculated to improve existing communication sets.

RESOLUTIONS URGE PRICE REDUCTIONS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 25 .-Resolutions urging elimination of discounts to retailers, the object of were adopted by the Associated In-dustries of America in annual con-vention here. The resolutions point-ed out that the discount allowed by manufacturers to retailers amounts to about $40,000,000 a year and that this sum would be given to the public in cheaper clothing.

Another resolution adopted urged the retailers to reduce prices, "not only that the public confidence may be restored and consumer buying be me restored and consumer buying be re-established to a normal degree, but that trading generally may be fixed and steady and labor employed as near to capacity as improved condi-tions will warrant."

SEN. FLETCHER URGES SHIP BOARD ACTION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 .- Senator Fietcher of Florida, ranking Demo-cratic member of the commerce commission, in a statement decommission, in a statement de-clared recent appointments by Presi-dent Wilson to the shipping board should be confirmed without delay by the board in the next three months. The statement follows the recent announcement by Chairman Jones of the committee that he would oppose confirmation at the coming
